"She never gives us the answers but instead asks questions that help answer the main question which I love because it helps me grow as a writer."

"My mentor will explain a concept and then check to see if the class understand. For example, when we worked on sentence level revisions, she explained the concepts broadly, then asked us to analyze the parts of an example. The mentoring sessions are helpful because they allow us to get to know each other and I feel comfortable talking to her."

"Erin asks questions to make sure I understand what's being explained and to clarify my own questions. She has helped me to come up with another way to tackle making a thesis statement."

"Erin helped me analyze the thoughts I put out on paper at our last meeting. Analysis is something that I struggle with in my writing, and Erin helped me with that."

"Erin has been amazing, she's obviously enthusiastic about what she's doing and makes it easier to enjoy class. Her sense of humor and dynamic with Tracy [the instructor] are great and I enjoy coming to class because of it. She's patient and very helpful and supportive."

"I really like that she is passionate about the topics that she taught to the class. This made it more memorable."

"I liked that she provided us work to get hands on practice doing things like reverse outlining."

"I feel like the Visual Analysis assignment was very helpful. Going through an in depth revision process helped me to critically look at my work. I feel like it has provided me with a sufficient amount of practice in order to apply this to future works."

"The situation in which the class debated and discovered the meaning behind two songs and their significances to various audiences was in my opinion very insightful and was a great exercise in critical thinking."

"Your feedback and advice has helped me improve my last two essays. If it was [not for] you pointing out certain aspect of my essay that needed to be fixed, I would not been confident in turning it in."

"The first meeting I had with Erin really gave me something to work with for my first musical autobiography. I have never really written an autobiography and didn't know how to include "myself" in my own paper. This assignment gave me a lot of ideas to work with and gave me a clearer idea on how to structure my paper."
